Northern Indiana Pet Expo– Written By Kathy and Korinna Lewellyn

Welcome to the Northern Indiana Pet Expo! This has been the second year that Schnauzer Rescue Cincinnati has been at the Pet Expo! Wow! What a crowd! Over 25 Rescues were in attendance; along with multiple activities for the kids, including horse rides from a local horse rescue. Also there were dog agility courses and training sessions from local dog trainers. There were vendors that had everything from specialty dog treats to tutus for our furry friends. Along with the vendors, we had some unusual guests including Clifford the Big Red Dog, the Allen County Sheriff's Department and their K-9 Unit, and a very friendly snake. We were able to meet Clifford, pet the German Shepherds and the snake. Our booth (see above) was decorated with banners advertising Schnauzer Rescue Cincinnati. We have learned a thing or two about decorations at our table. This year candy and paw prints made their way onto our table to make things more eye catching. Also we had Korinna make a piece of art to display at our table (see picture 2). But overall our main attraction was our Schnauzers! From the expo, we have had one adoption and lots of interest. We appreciate all of our help that we had this year from our volunteers. They came as far away as Cincinnati, Indianapolis, and Toledo. They definitely made this year go smoother. Along with our volunteers, our schnauzers got some coverage on our local TV stations as well. Also, some of our schnauzers appeared in the 2014 video from the expo. We all had a really great time and are looking forward to next year's event. Make sure to check out the video and pictures on page 2. Click here to view video by Korinna.

Summer Safety with your pups—submitted by Wendy Norris

Bruno relaxing in the pool

Summer is just about here. Pools and spas are opening, and boats are on the water in most areas of the country. With both of these events, there is the need for extra precaution for our pups. Not every dog knows how to swim and even if they do know how, it is very strenuous for a pup. Here are a couple of suggestions to keep your pup safe around a pool.

1—Do not let a pup unattended near a pool. Hopefully your pool and spa can be fenced off to prevent an accidental fall into the pool or spa. Self-closing and locking gates should be used.

2—Make sure your pup has a way out of the pool or spa with steps or a ramp and knows where they are located.

3—Watch the length of time in the pool—swimming is a strenuous activity and pups don't know when to get out.

4—Make sure there is fresh water available to drink. Drinking pool water and salt water are not safe for pets.

5—Rinse your pup off with fresh water after their swim to get the pool chemicals off them.

6—Consider the use of a pool alarm which sounds when the water is disturbed.

7—If your pup will be swimming in lakes, rivers, or the ocean, talk to your vet about a Giardia vaccination to prevent infections.

For extra safety, Personal Flotation Devices (PFD) are available for pups to use while swimming.

Boating with your pup presents other areas of concern including falling overboard, heat exhaustion, and dehydration.

1—Dock areas are where most accidents happen, while loading or unloading your boat.

2—Be sure your pup is wearing a Personal Flotation Device with a leash attached to it.

3—Make sure your pet has a collar on with an ID tag with current contact information. Consider micro chipping your pet.

Gracie enjoying her boat ride

4—Be sure to have fresh drinking water. Pups don't sweat, they pant when hot, so be sure to keep them well hydrated.

5—Provide a shaded area for your pet—boat surfaces can get very hot and dogs absorb heat thru their paw pads making them prone to heat stroke and exhaustion. Cooling pads and cooling collars are available to help with heat.

Swimming and boating with your pet can provide lots of fun. However, they can be very dangerous if the appropriate safety precautions are not taken. Hopefully these suggestions will help provide a safe summer for you and your pups

Featured Pet of the Quarter - Florida —Princess

Princess came from the Dothan, Alabama, animal shelter. We really don't know how old she is. We think she was probably a breeder dog. Her ear has a numbered tattoo in it, her teeth were horrible since all the nutrition goes to her puppies, and her teats were very big due to having lots of litters.

Dothan had her heart worm checked, and she tested positive so they asked us to take her. We first got some weight on her and then had her teeth cleaned and pulled. She will need another dental next year so they can pull a couple more teeth. They are just not loose enough to pull. After she recovered from the dental the vet gave her the heart worm treatment.

After 4 months we retested her, and she is now heart worm free. She is a very sweet girl who has no issues with anybody. She is crate trained and has started walking on a leash. She likes to be where you are. She is not a barker unless she wants out of her crate in the morning to get her breakfast.

I do still have issues with her pottyng in the house even though she knows to go outside, so I don't know if it's a marking issue. Yes, girls do mark when living with a pack so she might not if she was the only girl.

Please open up your home and finally give her the dog's life she so deserves. She is up to date on vaccinations and is spayed. She is on flea and heart worm preventative. Her adoption fee is $250 which would help us out with the vet fee.

Featured Pet of the Quarter - Ohio —Sally Sue

Sally Sue. I'm a small girl, salt & pepper. I weigh 15 pounds ,and I am 6 yrs. old. The best day of my life happened when I was taken from this awful place where I was kept in a cage. They just used me to make puppies.

At first I was really scared, I didn't know where I was going. But now my life just keeps getting better and better. Thanks to SRC, I was taken to the vets where they found I had heart worms. They took good care of me, and now I am able to run and play with all my foster brothers and sisters.

I follow my foster mom all around the house. I play with toys, and I love to be outside in the back yard. I am really enjoying my life now. As much as I like it here, I know there is a home out there just for me. I will need a fenced in yard and lots of love and attention.

My adoption fee is $250.00. So if your home if ready for me, put Sally Sue on the application.

SRC Medical Fund—giving pups another chance —submitted by Wendy Norris

We wanted to introduce you to some of our recent minis that we have been able to provide a “new leash on life” thanks to our wonderful supporters. Without your generous support, we would not be able to continue our mission of “No Schnauzer Left Behind”. We have had unusually high vet bills due to the numerous breeder releases.

Rex

Rex is 5 years old and has heart worm +, and has cataracts but otherwise in good health. While most blind dogs adapt to their surroundings, Rex is struggling. People don't want to give the blind ones a chance.

Robin came to SRC/F from a puppy mill in Ohio. She came in emaciated, heartworm +, and with whip worms. She has completed her treatment for whip worms, put on some weight and began her heartworm treatment. She has a very sweet disposition, quite social for a breeder dog, and a strong will to live!!! She will be under treatment for several months.

Robin

SRC takes many schnauzer and schnauzer mixes that shelters and other rescues will not. SRC does not shy away from the difficult cases: older dogs, sick dogs, or dogs with behavioral issues. Many of our pups would not be alive today if SRC had not rescued them.

With the philosophy of :

“No Schnauzer Left Behind” comes extensive veterinary bills, prescription expenses, and in other cases training fees. Some of our pups may never be adopted and will remain in the loving care of their foster families and for them, this is their forever home.

You can do it via paypal at:

Sparky

Sparky is a diabetic. Diabetes in Schnauzers is not uncommon - and usually they can be regulated quickly. People are reluctant to adopt diabetics - so they stay in foster care longer before they find their forever homes. Sparky also had cataracts. One of his eyes was operated on a few weeks ago, and he is recovering nicely.

Duke

Duke and Candy are representative of many of the puppy mill pups that SRC has rescued since the first of the year. Puppy mill pups generally come into rescue in poor condition needing socialization, lots of TLC, and medical treatment to take care of needs left unattended by the breeders. Duke has also been diagnosed with a heart murmur. Candy was adopted last weekend.

Book of the Quarter—Don't Leave Me! Step-by-Step Help for Your Dog's Separation Anxiety By Nicole Wilde

In February, my son, Gregg, adopted a Giant Schnauzer, Jordy, who has severe separation anxiety. Jordy has bonded with Gregg to the extent that when Gregg is not home, or he can't see Gregg, he is a total mess. Never having experienced this before I sought out help from Ann Within, BS, ACDBC, CPDT-KA, our trainer at Good Dog Rising, who recommended this book. It has been a miracle for us, while Jordy is still a work in progress, he is able to relax with me while Gregg is gone and if he can't he now has a place he feels safe.

Amazon.com describes this book as: Finally, a comprehensive guide for owners, trainers, rescuers, and anyone who wishes to help dogs with this often challenging problem. This interactive workbook offers creative solutions, cutting-edge therapies, and allows owners to customize a program for each individual dog.

Topics include:

- The role of management, nutrition, and exercise
- Creative management solutions
- Ways to build canine confidence
- Step-by-step behavior modification protocols
- Alternative therapies that can prove invaluable
- Whether pharmacological intervention might help
- How to put it all together in a customized plan

Working through the book helped me discover the type of separation anxiety that Jordy was experiencing. It also provided us with tools to help him work through his anxiety in positive ways. Jordy still doesn't like to be crated, I have come to the conclusion that he spent the majority of his life in a crate. Instead of crating, he has a room that is safe for him. When he gets anxious and starts his vocalization and pacing, he has a safe sanctuary where I can put him. This book is well worth the effort if you have a dog with separation anxiety issues. It is available from Amazon and Barnes and Noble in paperback and digital format. I purchased the kindle version—basically because I needed help now, but would recommend the paperback edition as it would be easier to refer back to sections as needed.

Note from the Editor

Welcome to summer. I believe it has finally arrived and is here to stay, or at least I think so.

We are in the mist of our calendar photo contest. Voting begins on June 15th and runs through June 30th. It will be difficult to choose just 13 pictures from the fantastic pictures we received. Next up will be the calendar sales in July and Barkaritaville in September. We have had several planning sessions for B-ville 2014. We will need volunteers the day of the event and donations for the raffle baskets.

We are experiencing the spring influx of pups – one of our members mentioned we should be an ARK, since lately we have been getting pups two by two. We have had lots of puppy mill boys and girls surrendered as well as stray and owner surrenders.

We really need foster families, or SRC/F will need to turn away pups. While we have the ARK as a temporary landing spot for pups, SRC/F pays for the kennel space and it adds up quickly. With the help of Martha's Mutt Movers, SRC/F transported to Alabama 2 more heartworm + Schnauzers – Abe and Simon to Iris– foster mom extraordinaire for sick pups and pregnant moms. Iris has been working with our Florida foster homes and moving pups to them when they have completed their heart worm treatment. We have transported with the help of our volunteer drivers several Schnauzers from Missouri, Northern Ohio, and West Virginia. We cannot do this without all our volunteers.

If you have considered fostering, now is the time to volunteer. If you are considering expanding your 4 legged family, please adopt we have many wonderful pups looking for the forever home.
